

HYSO FAQ

How easy is it to install an aerosol refill? In less than 30 seconds, the used aerosol can be replaced with a new aerosol.

What if the HYSO formula sprays a hand?

The HYSO formula is of a similar chemical composition to alcohol-based hand rubs and would effectively rid the effected part of the hand of all bacteria.

How do I know if the unit is working?

Every 15 seconds, the power light (located on the front of the unit) will flash. The power light will also flash for 3 seconds continually before spraying.

How long does an aerosol can last?

Depending on the interval setting, from 1 week to 3 months.

How long do the batteries last?

Depending on the interval settings, from 5 months to 10 months.

Where can I use HYSO?

You can use HYSO on any door where maintaining a disinfected handle is imperative.

How do I prevent vandalism?

HYSO offers a safety cage that prevents tampering.

How effective is the HYSO formula?

The HYSO formula is registered with the EPA as a disinfectant. All claims are supported by the EPA and are clearly marked on the aerosol label.

What kinds of bacteria colonize on a handle?

Upwards of 100 different kinds such as: Staphylococcus lugdunensis, E-coli, Salmonella, Pseudomonas aeruginosa, Enterococcus faecium to name a few.

What are the benefits of HYSO?

Installing HYSO will ensure a bacteria free door handle thus greatly reducing the risk of infection transfer.

How much does HYSO cost?

Depending on the user-set interval timer, HYSO costs between 53 cents and 4 cents per day.

Does HYSO have any adverse effect to wooden doors?

No erosive effects have been observed. However, usual door cleaning regimens should still be observed after installation of HYSO.

Does HYSO have any adverse effect to the floor underneath the unit?

The HYSO unit is installed approximately four feet above the floor affixed to the door. Most of the formula dispensed from the HYSO unit

Packerland Rent-A-Mat, Inc.

A Wisconsin Family-Owned Company

www.packerland.net

(262) 781-5321

(800) 472-9339 Toll Free

(262) 781-6265 Fax

info@packerland.net